Welcome to Six Days of Spring! I'm really excited to share some great ideas to add some spunk to your home for spring. Since I'm not much of a seasonal decorating kind of girl, all of my Six Days of Spring ideas are about bringing something old back to life again, like how to make a Book Lamp. How to make and self-publish a book All you need to know to write, print, and promote your printed book. Get started Tip: If you want to create your own special edition of a classic title, head to Project Gutenberg and download the text to thousands of titles now in public domain. When you export your book, you'll get a number of trim size options. Select Digest (5.5" x 8.5"), which is exactly the size of a piece of Letter paper folded in half. It's #ToteBagMonday. But, instead of a tote bag tutorial, today we're featuring an tutorial on how to make a book bag. This book bag is green in every way. Besides 100% recycled, it's vintage apple green! - How-to-make-a-book Book
